EPISODE 2 · 59 MIN

▶ Play

This session is an interview with my grandparents who have been married for over 60 years. They talk about what has worked for them in their relationship and things they think are different about relationships today. My grandparents are old fashioned and conservative and I love them for that. Try to hear the overall message even if you disagree with some of their views. They are sweet and loving people and though I don't agree on the one man one woman only concept of marriage we still love each other and respect each other's differences and my wife and I can still learn from their beautiful relationship and I hope you can too
